PUBLIC INFORMATION ACT

The Public Information Act shall be construed in favor of permitting inspections of a public record, with the least cost and least delay to the person requesting that information. Everyone has the right to access information about the affairs of government and official acts of public officials and employees.

Every person is entitled to the inspection, either personally or by his agent, of public records, provided he has an interest therein which is such as would enable him to maintain or defend an action for which the document or record sought can furnish evidence or necessary information.

I understand that the information I am requesting is being disclosed to me under the Public Information Act.
